

WE NOMINATE

Eleven dedicated, able and willing Princetonians who in the upcoming week — on Election Tuesday between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. — will pass in review before their fellow townsmen as the Borough and Township of Princeton in the most urbanized state in the Union once again weigh the qualifications of candidates for municipal office. These 11, constituting an interesting cross-section of the Princeton Community and each of whom is qualified for the office he or she seeks, suggest by their presence, on the General Election Ballot, that the "volunteer spirit" remains a vibrant force in the political life of a deeply disturbed and highly tense nation.

While it is becoming increasingly evident throughout the 6th District, and Assembly District 6A, that the powerful Democratic County organization so painstakingly built and perceptively directed by the late Thorn Lord is splintering, Princeton's attention for the past six weeks has been largely centered on the problems presented by growth and urbanization rather than on State, or County, "issues." Platitudes have been falling like autumn leaves with both Parties — at coffee-hours, on walking tours, and doorbell-ringing safaris, and at occasional rallies — discussing zoning, planning, traffic and parking, recreation needs and housing. All in all, it has been a campaign refreshingly free of embarrassing acrimony.

The headline-making Borough mayoralty race finds Democrat Archibald S. Alexander Jr., 34-year old lawyer, a relative newcomer to Princeton and a brilliant, aggressive campaigner, challenging Mayor Henry S. Patterson, the Borough's chief executive since 1962. The latter, 45 and a past president of the New Jersey Conference of Mayors, remains the favorite on the basis of a record of solid achievement. The aspirants for Borough Collector of Taxes are Christine St. John

(Mrs. Charles E.), the G.O.P. contender, and Marie B. Coan (Mrs. Wilson J.), the incumbent, both of whom play key roles in community organizations.

The two openings on Borough Council, the only elective jobs offering nary a penny of compensation, have attracted four appealing candidates. The Republicans, as is their wont, are "going with experience:" incumbent Alan W. Garrick, 65, retired attorney, and Frederick R. Peterson, 55, stock broker and for 12 years a member of the Hopewell Borough Council. Their Democratic opponents, both concerned with such essentials as "more grass and trees" as opposed to "parking lot blight," are James E. Andrews, 38, Assistant to the President, Princeton Theological Seminary, and Wilbert Brooks, 50, Supervisor of Custodial and Maintenance Services, John Witherspoon School.

In the Republican-dominated Township, where once again the Democrats have failed "to fill the ballot," the veteran William L. Wilson, 57, a devoted public official for some 12 years, is opposed for the 3-year term on Township Committee. His running-mate is Harry J. Volwieder, 60, prominent contractor and chairman of the Joint Borough-Township Recreation Board, who was appointed to the Committee last spring to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of David S. Thompson. The lone Democrat is Montague Brown, 36, an authority in the field of hospital administration and an articulate advocate of the "development of adequate housing for everyone."

For their willingness to give freely of themselves in seeking to solve problems of the utmost moment to Princeton; for urging others, regardless of their political affiliations, to share their consuming interest in community affairs; for making time for the kind of campaign which contributes to Princeton's understanding of Princeton; they are our nominees as

ELECTION TUESDAY
Candidates Urge Large Turnout. Princeton's liveliest election campaign in some years will close at the polls on Tuesday.

This week, in rare unanimity, the two candidates for mayor of the Borough joined in a statement urging their people to vote.

"Neither of us would be happy to win," they said, "knowing that a large number of people hadn't exercised their right to vote."

Republican Mayor Henry S. Patterson is running for reelection on his record, pointing to a full-time juvenile officer, a new public library, swimming pool, the new Wiggins Street built to aliph traffic from Nassau, the new Borough Hall built on the land the Borough had to pay for, the new water plant, a completed Master Plan.

Democratic challenger Archibald S. Alexander Jr. is charging his opponent with lack of leadership in getting traffic off Nassau, pushing for a by-pass, keeping taxes down, providing housing for people with modest incomes, resisting the idea of widening of Princeton streets.

Loog, Hard Campaign. The campaign has been strenuous and both candidates said this week they seek voter right up to the finish line. It's the kind of campaign that raises questions to the minds of thoughtful Princetonians about the future of politics in the community, but we'll come to that later.

It is in the coffee-hour that the Princeton candidate finds his clearest channel of communications with the voter, although this year the coffee-hour was allowed occasionally by the walking tour in strategic districts—and even the cocktail party.

The trouble with a coffee-hour is that the hostess usually invites people sympathetic to the candidates anyway, and even unsympathetic guests sometimes hesitate to raise a word of load dust in somebody's living room.

Nevertheless, issues do get out. In the Borough, there have been two outstanding ones—traffic and taxes.

Housing aroused some interest, especially among lower-income groups who need it, and among concerned intellectuals, but others were not emotional on the subject. The Youth Center started out as an issue and instead held a featured spot on one of Mr. Alexander's campaign posters, "I'd like to see you moved into the Engineering Building."

Traffic, Taxes. However, evenly gets caught in both traffic and taxes.

Henry S. Patterson Republican Mayor

"I never advocated street widening as a way of solving traffic problems," the mayor said this week, recapitulating his remarks at last week's League of Women Voters candidates meeting and the John Witherspoon Citizens Association meeting and dozens of previous coffee hours.

"While I am mayor," he said at one western section coffee hour, and at others elsewhere, "there will be no widening of Hodge, Lafayette, Cleveland, Hamilton."

He has suggested that the Master Plan was saying, in its proposal, "this future traffic

FOR ELECTION RESULTS TUESDAY NIGHT CALL TOWN TOPICS 924-2200

is something that COULD happen unless we find alternatives," the alternatives being chiefly a 92A by-pass of Nassau Street and the Loop Road—both in what the mayor calls "somebody else's back yard." He has summed up the traffic problem by asking, "How do you get cars from one place to another without disturbing people?"

Keep Streets "As Is." Mr. Alexander, meantime, has been drinking coffee, too. He has charged that the Master Plan's road proposals are "a de-void of human considerations: it is nowhere evident that they took human considerations into account."

Mr. Alexander suggests that deliberately keeping Princeton streets at their present width is "a form of pressure" on Princeton motorists, on the state to get the by-pass built. "If streets are widened to accommodate increasing traffic," he says, "the state will say we need a by-pass."

The mayor has said he is confident the by-pass will be built, adding, "The Borough has been accused of pushing roads into other people's towns for its own traffic relief."

Mr. Alexander doesn't think the mayor has pushed enough, and the by-pass discussion has sometimes narrowed to "anything you can do, I can do better."

By-Pass. Each Tuesday, the mayor holds a press conference and for three of the past four Tuesdays, Mr. Alexander has been an invited—but never elected—guest.

This past Tuesday, while Mr.

Archibald S. Alexander Jr. Democratic Challenger

Alexander Titled Mayor Patterson said pointedly that the list of people who have worked for by-pass is a long one, going back at least to his predecessor, Democratic Mayor Raymond P. Male. The mayor said he objected to people who take credit, as Mr. Alexander had done on an earlier campaign statement, for bringing by-pass closer to reality.

However strongly he makes his point against street-widening, the mayor has been handicapped by the original traffic proposals in the Master Plan (widening of certain streets to arterials, was later amended out of the plan), and he said ruefully at Tuesday's press conference that a Master Plan was certainly a more "statesmanlike" document than a "political" one.

The Inevitable Tax On Taxes

One Democratic Council candidate James Andrews says that's the question that bothers people most in the western section. Nice homes aren't all that affluent.

One Democratic candidate admitted privately and anonymously that in New Jersey, no municipality can really do much about taxes. County and schools take the biggest bite from the Borough's tax dollar and local government has no control over either.

Mr. Alexander is concerned about elderly people on fixed incomes who either have to live in Princeton on a shoe-string, or sell their modest properties and move out, because of high taxes. He thinks "more careful fiscal planning" could keep taxes from going up and he told one coffee-hour that the library, swimming pool and Borough Hall should not have been built all at once.

Major expenses, he said, should be co-ordinated with bringing in new ratepayers. Mr. Alexander suggested that a certain amount of commercial expansion could benefit the community and bring in the revenues that would decrease taxes.

Raises? Yes. Mayor Patterson, questioned about taxes, has reminded coffee hour audiences of the police wishes the Borough gave in order to match the Township after last year's police raise referendum.

To a western section resident who opposed police raises, the mayor replied, "We could never give them more. He spoke of Princeton as a difficult town to be a policeman in, he said Brown and his good relationships with both children and adults and added that Princeton expects more of its police than many towns do.

The four men in the Council race have been in the background, but running: Wilbert Brooks and James Andrews on the Democratic ticket and Al-an Carrick and Fred Peterson on the Republican.

Mr. Andrews doesn't approve of the new "loitering" ordinance and wants to see closer, more fruitful contact between young people and the police. Mr. Brooks, as a Negro, sees the need for middle-income housing. Mr. Carrick has defended the concept of a single attorney for Borough and Township against Mr. Alexander's challenge at the Lexington meeting. Mr. Peterson, experienced in government in another town, says he wants to contribute that experience to Princeton.

Township. In the Township Republican Campaign Committee William L. Wilson has no opponent and will be re-elected. Democrat Montague Brown has talked traffic in his campaign against Republican Harry J. Volwieder.

To dramatize his proposal for investigating mini-buses, Mr. Brown got car-pooling housewives to hang posters on their cars reading, "If there were a mini-bus, this car would be home now."

Mr. Brown suggested that the poster made two points: there would be fewer cars on the street, and if there were cars with posters, that would be a likely route for a mini-bus to follow.

He has also told Birch Avenue residents he will route the big long-distance buses away from their street if he is elected.

Who's to Run? And so the home stretch is in sight. It has been a stiff race, and as we said in the beginning, it raised questions about the kind of men who will run for office in future years.

Both mayoralty candidates are men who could be called "quasi-independent." Mayor Patterson is vice-president of a utility company. Mr. Alexander is an attorney in a law firm. Presumably, each one can shift, juggle or postpone his job responsibilities for two months while he campaigns.

But it's difficult to imagine the boss of a middle-schedule, 95 employee giving him that year. Or a self-employed man being willing to sacrifice two months in which he could be spring money writing, painting a house or consulting. Concern about this state of affairs came from both parties this fall. Mayor Patterson said, in mid-campaign, that if men were going to have to spend so much time, it would be hard to persuade them to run. Mr. Andrews, who is assistant to President James J. McCord of Princeton Theological Seminary, said smilingly that he just couldn't campaign vigorously and open a nursery for the academic year at the same time.

In the Township, Mr. Brown, who holds an executive job, took a whole week off to attend coffee hours and ring doorbells. His opponent, Mr. Volwieder, is president of his own construction company and relatively free to schedule his own time.

So, for the years to come, it looks as though Princeton will have, whatever the party, government by the kind of men who can take time off. And think how restful it is, once election is past, to get back to your job.

NEW YORK GIRL SHOT

By Ex-Pennington Resident.
A former resident of Pennington, who had served as a reporter for several area newspapers, terrified a woman at a point in her New York apartment Monday night, before shooting and critically wounding himself.

E. Winfield Johnson, who lived with his family for many years on West Delaware Avenue, and attending Pennington Central High School and Rutgers University, is in Lenox Hospital in critical condition with a bullet wound in the back of his head.

Johnson gained access to the apartment of Molly W. Holt, East 73rd Street and First Avenue, when she opened the door response to his request for a pencil and paper. Miss Holt, who was on the phone with a neighbor when Johnson knocked, thought he was a resident of the building.

When she gave him the items, he pulled a gun, threatened her and demanded money. She gave him $3. The neighbor, meanwhile, became suspicious and went to Miss Holt's apartment. As the door opened, Miss Holt got out in to the hall, slamming the door behind her.

Police arrived and heard a shot. Entering the apartment, they found Johnson on the floor, with a shell from a .22 caliber pistol lying next to him. Miss Holt, 26, told police Johnson threatened to shoot her and commit suicide.

The 32-year-old Air Force veteran worked for the Burlington County Times as a reporter in 1961, before switching to the Evening Times in Trenton. He left Trenton in 1964 and subsequently was employed by the Philadelphia Bulletin and the New Brunswick Home News.

His mother Lois and stepfather, Abert Flury, last lived on Bard Street in Pennington, before moving to Watertown, Wis., about six years ago.

AM I MAD? Pirandello's "Enrico IV" will turn this question

Enrico? A normal man with eccentric characteristics (to

George Hearn will play the title role, quite a departure from his two previous assign-

Besides Mr. Hearn, "Enrico

The third event in McCar-

be an evening, says McCarter,

BUY BOUTIQUE

Christmas! Ever see a wolf in a parka? Or to arrange the words in a different program, "ever see a wolf parka?" You will, at the annual Christmas Boutique, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Nassau Inn.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday, and 10 to 5 and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Wednesday and 10 a.m. on Thursday. Admission is $1, and then you start buying...

The Boutique is sponsored each year by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital as a fund-raising event for the hospital, so you can shop and buy and have a splendid time, and contribute at the same time to the welfare of the hospital.

Mrs. William Adamson Jr. and Mrs. Charles Biddle, chairmen, have assembled about a dozen boutiques from specialty shops up and down the Atlantic coast. That wolf parka comes from the Adirondack Store at Saranac Lake, New York, and they'll have all kinds of other exciting outdoor things like deer skin moccasins, a branding iron and a "basset lamb" of all things. And outdoor motifs on waste-baskets, pillows, bags, table lighters and cocktail glasses.

Quite a different display from Au Bon Gout of Palm Beach — caviar servers, exquisite glass chrysanthemum, lucite paper weights and little shell place-card sets. Know what a daisy look is? They'll have some in the garden equipment department, along with mushroom lights and signs to hang over your fireplace reading "Danger Closed" so you won't end up with your own smoke-filled room.

The "Gourmet Room" of Au Bon Gout specializes in "flying

How to design and make hooked rugs so beautiful they can be hung on the wall... Grandmothers browsing the Christmas Boutique will pick up the matching brother-sister clothes for the very, very young, at the Jean Gole Bon-Mosseler, one of the most famous designers of these dramatic new hooked rugs. Other hand-crafts will be in the Midland Crafters display, from Fairbairn, North Carolina. Crystalwood, a specially processed wood which looks more like glass, is a specialty here.

And wonderful wooden toys — is there anything more rewarding to give a child at Christmas-time? Granddad's Toys from North Thetford, Vermont, will be back for his third year with the Christmas Boutique, offering marvelous wooden toys and games made by hand. In a variety of prices, too.

Other kinds of fine craftsmanship come from "The Clever Women Inc., of Dallas, Texas. Here you'll find custom needlework supplies and needlepoint designs. Finished needlework by members of the hospital Auxiliary's own Boutique Committee will be on sale in another booth.

Ulysses (now playing) Skill and imagination have been used effectively to bring James Joyce's noted work to the large screen. The result is such that it will please selective adult audiences.

For those unfamiliar with the literary contribution, the two-hour film is in reality a character study rather than a full-fledged story. The camera dwells on a number of people, each of whom is picture-tureque and intriguing. Each contributor nightly to the end result, which may shock some and contribute to controversy.

All of the action takes place in a single day and night in Dublin during the early part of this century. Miss O'Shea is mentioned in the lead role of an uneasy life in Catholic Ireland. Barbara Jefford is Miss O'Shea, a poet and teacher, generally accepted as a counter part of Joyce himself.

CLYDESS: Barbara Jefford as Molly in the day dream sequence from the film version of James Joyce's "Ulysses," now at the Garden Theatre.

During the course of the day, Bloom goes to a funeral, gets into an argument with a group of young men, including the poet, and they visit a brothel. He brings Molly back to his house for a night's sleep. Meanwhile, the indolent Molly spends the day in bed, part of the time with her lover.

It is the reveries and thoughts of the Joyce character that count and the film concentrates its greatest art in the lead role of an uneasy life in Catholic Ireland. Barbara Jefford is Miss O'Shea, a poet and teacher, generally accepted as a counter part of Joyce himself.

passages, and director Joseph Sirick, accompanies the words with imagery that has been chosen with extraordinary imagination. The brothel scene accents Bloom's obsession with sex and the guilt that accompanies it by means of a combination of satire and slapstick.

Adult audiences will find the language forthright. The subject matter is expressly presented, but not pornographically paced.

PLAYHOUSE and LINCOLN
Waterhole No. 3 (now playing) is a western with built-in sex and slapstick in the western style are the main ingredients.
James Colburn is the fast-talking, fast moving con man who kills and loves with equal aplomb. He comes across a map showing the location of stolen gold and sets out to find it, pursued by the thieves. He runs into a crooked sheriff (Carroll O'Connor) after seducing his daughter, and they become allies. The girl, played by Margaret Blye, joins the pursuers, who by now include a number of assorted characters, including the U.S. Army. There is a showdown in a brothel and Miss Blye winds up with the gold, but not for long. The casual treatment of sex and the dubious moral tone of the film may turn off some purveyors, but the tongue-in-cheek shenanigans may be just what the more sophisticated think they are looking for.

PRINCE

The Sand Pebbles (held over) is an extraordinary adventure-drama about an American gunboat caught in the 1926 civil war in China. Steve McQueen heads the excellent cast, supported by Candice Bergen, Richard Attenborough and Marjorie Anderson. Filmed in Taiwan, the color photography is superb. (Reviewed last week)

ship, police said that there was "a lot of paper hanging from trees and bushes all over town."

Although the police said there was "no serious trouble," there were three incidents: a small foreign car was turned over on its side on Ewing Brook Lane; a home was turned on and pushed through a window, flooding the cellar of a Laurel Road home; a lamp post was broken in the Littlebrook area; two windows were broken, one a storm window on a Ewing Street home and the other a front home window on Jefferson Road; and children were reported throwing bottles of a liquid that exploded on Cuyler Road. The docket also contained calls from residents complaining of the dumping of garbage, the throwing of eggs and milk oranges, and the setting of small fires in roadways. Police said most of the incidents were confined to the central area between Township Hall and the Shopping Center.

THREE HOMES ENTERED

Two in the Borough. Two Borough homes were reported entered and ransacked within an hour of each other on Saturday night. A third home was entered the same evening in the Township.

Borough police report that someone forced a window and a door of a laundry room to enter the home of Bernard Glover, 22 Robert Road. A neighbor who saw someone leaving the home called the police at 10:30 p.m.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that although the home was ransacked, apparently nothing was taken. Mr. Glover called the next day to report that the contents of a pocket-book belonging to his wife were found strewn on Robert Road near Prospect Avenue. A wall-let left behind had contained no money but police noted, too that a change purse and some stamps were also found intact.

"We don't understand it," said Chief McCrohan. Sgt. Arthur Gallant is continuing the investigation.

At 10:45, Mrs. Hymen Battle, 61 Hodge Road, called police to report that her home had been entered and ransacked. Police said that a door leading to a den had been forced. An attempt had also been made to enter the French doors leading to the living room.

In the bedroom drawers in the bedroom had been pulled open and the contents of a jewelry box were scattered about. Taken were an amethyst ring valued at $300; a topaz ring, value unknown; and a coin collection valued at more than $300 from Mrs. Battle's son's room. Ptl. Arthur Jackson and Ptl. Ronald Holliday investigated.

When Mrs. Renita V. Dipollie, 327 Mercer Road, returned home around 8 Saturday evening, she noticed all the doors of her house were open. She surprised an intruder who fled out the rear door to woods bordering her home. Detective Fred Porter reported that a thorough search

They can tell you about beach houses to rent — anything from a beachcomber cottage in the Bahamas Off Islands, to an expensive estate in Honolulu, with prices from $25 a week to $1,500 a week.

Want to rent a yacht? They have deck plans and photographs, and they deal with established charter agencies in the Caribbean. They have explored more than 40 islands in the past three years, to obtain first-hand information on game fishing, hotels, golf courses, airstrips.

Well, back to Hawaii. The two Island Hoppers visited in June, the four major Hawaiian islands: Oahu, Kauai, Maui and Hawaii, finally saying, "Aloha" wrapped in the ears in ginger flower leis and misty-eyed with the beauty and warm hospitality of the islands.

924-2200

On Oahu, they examined the marvelous houses to rent at Diamond Head, and the beaches for swimming on the east coast. On Kauai, they found the least "touristy" of the major islands, a paradise of lush green mountains — and slightly lower rates.

On Maui, they found one of the world's prettiest beaches with clear water you have to swim in to believe. The town of Maui is an old whaling town, still rather primitive and Victorian, but with surprising fine shops — jade, pearls, superb clothes — for such a small village.

On Hawaii, of course, there are big cities, orchard farms, awesome lava flows, each with a market of selling its year; some of the best game fishing in the world on the Kona coast and, surprisingly, a cattle ranch!

Island Hoppers were entranced with a new hotel built on the site of old village, and carefully designed to keep the native appearance of the original compound. The hotel has its own airstrip, a charming lagoon, and individual detached roof cottages for guests.

Prices? Well, you can stay in a luxury hotel for $80 a day, but Island Hoppers found one hotel at $12 a day for a double room, without meals. What you have to consider, of course, is air fare. Island Hoppers suggests you start with the amount you spend on a Caribbean vacation and add $200 round trip for each person.

BUS, BUT NEXT YEAR
For Youngest Children in kindergarten who live a mile and a half from school will be bused starting next September. There isn't any money left in the budget to pay for busing them this year, and the distance is so short that the state won't reimburse anyhow.

The Regional School Board has a policy decision Tuesday night. Specifically, it concerns 42 youngsters who walk to John Witherspoon School from the area bounded by Westcott, Library Place, Mercer Street and Elm Road.

Parents living on Stockton protested that the Stockton-Mercer-Nassau intersection was dangerous to negotiate for any age, and the discussion settled into one of those "how-to-win money" exchanges.

Dr. Harvey Rothberg, of the board, observed that the schools — i.e., the taxpayers — are already paying $80,000 more for busing than they are asked "Do parents want to spend money for teachers or buses?"

Mrs. George Fremont, board president, reminded everybody that budget time is coming, and she expressed concern for "Princeton families who can't afford our rising school taxes, as it is."

The overall transportation study will steam ahead, said Superintendent Phillip E. McPherson, now that Chester Barker is working fulltime on the problem. Parent requests for busing will be set aside until that overall study has been completed, the board decided.

Go, Go, Franklin, Work on the realignment of Franklin Avenue will begin within a few days, announced business manager William Evans. There was only one bid — for $42,653 from Daylon Constructors of Dayton.

Where to Vote on Election Day

In Princeton Township, all polling places are the same as in last year's election. In the Borough they are the same too, except that voters in Districts 1 and 8 vote in the new Borough Hall instead of the old. that bill, has been informed of the bid, Mr. Evans said. He told the board he hopes the new Franklin, with curbs and sidewalks, will be in before the end of the year.

"Sec." observed Mrs. Fremont, "is more a matter of educating parents and teachers than children."
The board approved development of a sex education program for grades K-12, using the new Princeton Area Committee for Sex Education as liaison between school and community.

Evaluation Date Set. Princeton High School will be evaluated in November, 1969, by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The school, like all others in the Association, must be evaluated every ten years to maintain its accreditation.

Last time was March, 1959. Kenneth Michael, principal of the high school, told the board that a self-evaluation program is part of this check-up, and he said, "The self-evaluation can be more vital than the evaluation of the committee."

The evaluation is an academic one, but Mr. Michael, in reply to a question from Dr. Rothberg about facilities, program is related to facilities. The committee will comment.

Declining to explain the incident in a public meeting, Mrs. Fremont and board member Thomas Moore made oblique reference to an apparent brush between a Negro student and a teacher.

Mrs. Fremont quoted from the letter written by board member E. Frederick Lasch, ever to the child's parent, underscoring the board's "strong sensitivity toward the goal of providing equality of opportunity" and assuring the parent that the board would deal with the teacher involved. Donald Blankenbush, president of the teachers' association, said he would bring the matter before the association's executive board.

"Is the teacher to be discharged?" asked Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, chairman of the John Witherspoon Citizens Association.

Mrs. Fremont said the investigation was not yet complete, and she told Mrs. Edwards the board would be open to discussion of the incident in private with people who were interested in the case.

MAYOR CITES RECORD
In Final Statement. In a final campaign statement this week,
Mayor Henry S. Patterson said again that he is opposed to streetwidening and does not propose to raise taxes.

"I am very proud of the accomplishments produced in my six years as Mayor of Princeton Borough. We have a new library, the Community Park swimming pool and recreation facilities, an active open space program, a new Borough Hall,
a youth center, a full-time

juvenile officer, a revised master plan, a Shade Tree Commission, a closer cooperative relationship with Princeton Township and other neighborhood communities. The list is long.

"I look forward to the next two years and I am confident that they will be as productive
as the past."

"During the past eight weeks or so, many things have been said in what has become a strenuous campaign for me. Of all that has been said, I want to make two points absolutely clear:

"I am against widening of streets in Princeton as it means to solve our traffic problems, and I have no plans to raise taxes.

"To preserve Princeton, Princeton's traffic problems must be solved by providing alternate routes around Princeton for the cars and trucks, which now use our local streets for origins and destinations outside the Borough. Accordingly, we have cooperated and worked with those non-political groups set up to solve jointly some of these problems, with the State and with the County and Municipalities through which the new highways will go.

"I am as greatly concerned about rising taxes as anyone.
With all the campaign talk about high taxes, I had hoped to hear some specific suggestions. I have heard none except for some vague suggestions about Federal funds.

"The plain fact is that your taxes and mine increased because of the county and school needs as well as local municipal needs. The municipal needs were for higher police and other salaries (these increases were long past due) and to pay for the construction of, and the larger operating budgets of,
such things as the swimming pool and the library. I have heard no suggestions that monies should not have been spent in this way.

"During the campaign, I have attended countless coffee hours, campaign receptions and just plain meetings. I have knocked on many doors and talked with individuals, Municipal, family and business,
which now use our local commitments have made it impossible for me to reach everyone as I had hoped might be possible.

"But to all, I ask that you

for me, and the Alan Carrier and Fred Patterson for Borough Council and Christine St. John for Tax Collector."

We put our old bus in a new box.

If there was anything the old bus didn't need, it was more room on the inside.

Which brings us to the first thing you should know about the new box.

There's more room on the inside.

In fact, the Volkswagen Station Wagon has almost twice as much room inside as conventional station wagons.

On the outside (which is a little bigger,
too) we replaced the 13 little windows with 8 big ones. And one of them is a wraparound windshield.

What next?

A wraparound bumper to help you step up into the driver's compartment through wider front doors.

As for the 2 side doors, they're not there anymore. We replaced them with a single sliding safety door. It locks when it's open and latches when it's closed.

An aisle light, like the back is now standard equipment. (After all, what's a bus without an aisle?)

If you'd rather do without the charm and convenience of an aisle, it'll cost you.
But you'll get 2 more seats (total 9) for your trouble.

Only Volkswagens would give you fewer windows. Fewer doors. Fewer seats.
And call it an improved wagon.

Come in and see it today.

Why I Plan to Vote REPUBLICAN DEMOCRATIC

By Sheldon Jadsen

By Alan Williams

There are a number of reasons why I will vote for Henry Patterson in this coming election. But one of the most convincing reasons to me is the conviction that he understands the problems of young people.

In a time when the educational cliché is easy and popular, it is heartening to find someone who not only knows what is sound, but acts on the basis of his understanding. It is particularly heartening to find these qualities in a candidate for public office.

Let me illustrate my belief with an incident in which I played a role and can testify to the part played by Mayor Patterson.

Back in 1964 Princeton University inaugurated the Princeton Cooperative School Program, a venture which seeks to increase the number of qualified candidates for college from the ranks of those disadvantaged by race or economics or both. I served as director of the program through the summer of 1966.

In that summer we had 40 New Jersey High School boys on the campus, 30 of them Negro. We didn't know whether the project was going to be a success or a bust. As it turned out 25 of the first 40 boys went on to college in September 1966, and 32 of them are still there.

The success of that first summer probably turned more on an un-planned incident and Henry Patterson's role in it than on any other single event. Here is the story:

Some of the boys were refused service in a local barbershop. The incident ranked with the boys who were still extremely tentative about trusting the program staff, or Princeton University or the Princeton community.

Eventually it boiled up as the students sought ways to redress a wrong. Instead of picketing, or demonstrating, or just plain quitting, they chose a relatively mild procedure of writing letters to the three papers in town, to the University president, and to Mayor Patterson.

Of the three papers, only Town Topics published their letter of protest. President Cohen responded swiftly and positively, not only to the boys but also to the offending barber. But it was Mayor Patterson's reaction which made it truly clear that Princeton was, as one student said, "with us."

Mayor Patterson had no advance warning of the incident or the letter that was to come to him. But his first reaction was a fine letter to the boys, and more importantly, a meeting with the local barbers.

In this meeting, Henry Patterson spelled it out that if for whatever reason any barber was unable to cut hair for regardless of its type, or of its owner, then he has no right to a license. This principle was later to enacted into state law.

I had not met Mayor Patterson at that time, but in writing to him after the incident I was able to point out the value of the experience for the boys. They had been confronted with a problem. They had analyzed it, and decided on a course of action. They followed their plan. And best of all they had moved the machinery of government. They had an answer to their problem and they had gotten it on their own initiative.

This was wonderful for them, and for the Cooperative School Program. I believe it set the tone for the successes that have continued to mark the program.

Later, as President of the Princeton Junior Museum, I had occasion to deal directly

Back in the summer of 1960 Murray Kempton wrote of the Democratic candidate for President that we seemed to have on our hands "a new kind of horse" and that it looked as if he would "run a new kind of race." In Princeton Borough in 1967 the track may be a great deal smaller, but the Democratic horse brings a similar spirit to the race and I look forward with enthusiasm to voting for Archibald S. Alexander Jr. for Mayor and for his running mates James Alexander and Wilbert Brooks for Council and Marie Coan for Tax Collector.

Mr. Alexander, let it be said from the outset, has an attractive and well-known opponent, but he is a man who suffers from one acute Achilles heel: he is a victim of that unique local disease, Princeton Complacency. Princeton Complacency is a malady contracted from many years of succumbing to the natural human temptation to let the eye drift to the undoubted lulling charms of our community, passing for the most part right over its urgencies and blights.

How did you react when you opened your New York Times last winter and found Princeton all over the split page—not, for once, because of an historic house torn or a head-lining cult at Whig-Clo, but because our teenage population was drifting in a menaced and menacing pack up and down Nassau Street? Have we really reached the point where it takes a noisy reporter from the big city to tell us what's wrong?

The issues in our majority campaigns have over the years taken on the aspect of a litany: "Housing and Youth, Traffic and Taxes." Yet these are the problems and if they have assumed chant-like quality whose fault is it, the challenger's or the incumbent's? Again Princeton Complacency has made us not in acquiescent concern every time these problems are brought up, but what we must have now is someone from whose eyes the scales have dropped and who will do something before not after—the crises become acute. Such a man, I feel, is Archibald Alexander.

One prime reason I am so strongly persuaded by Mr. Alexander is the vitality of the campaign he has been running. His public image has of course been masterfully deployed but I am really talking of something else.

In this computerized, Me-Luh-nized electric village era it is a healthy and not unwelcome shock to see the candidate, far from a flashgun, in late in the evening, not knowing that he is observed, moving alone from house to house rapping doorbells, a technique so many others would relegate to the era of the torchlight parade.

This is a kind of dedication and energy we need and will get with Archibald Alexander. The Trenton Times may label our Borough election as a "glamour race" (imagine, two Ivy Club men!), where the choice is a kind of Tweed-letum and Tweed-letum, but don't you believe it. The man who will campaign as Archibald Alexander has been doing is the fresh, new leader we want and need.

With Mayor Patterson largely about the housing of the Museum and its rather unorthodox approach to museum activity. Throughout he has not only been helpful but very understanding of the nature of the educational process and needs of the young people who patronize the museum and the other youth facilities such as the Community Swimming Pool and the Youth Center. Henry Patterson will have my vote on November 7.

To Firestone Library Addition. The Borough Zoning Board last week granted a special permit and front yard and side yard variances to Princeton University to permit construction of a 450,000 cubic foot underground addition to Firestone Library.

The addition will face toward Nassau Street and be entirely below the existing grade. It will have a grass roof with the exception of an inner court not visible from the street. C. Harrison Hall Jr., manager of physical planning at the university, told the board he expected construction to begin in about a year.

The board also ruled that the proposed expansion must be lumped with three previous additions: the Dulles Library added in 1961, the Scheide Library added in 1964, and the Princeton University Library added in 1962. These three have a combined cubic foot total of 102,500 or 5% of the original Firestone Library erected in 1948, containing 3,365,000 cubic feet.

The underground addition will add 114% to the original building; all four additions together, 161%. The figures are important to the university because zoning laws prohibit the expansion of a non-conforming

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR SCHOLARSHIP: Kenneth Michael, principal of Princeton High School, gives a magazine subscription order to Mrs. Charles Plummer, proceeds destined for the PTA Scholarship Fund. "The PTA magazine drive has provided funds for more than 100 Princeton boys and girls to further their education," observed Mr. Michael. Make out your check to "PHS Scholarship Fund" for the amount of the magazine you want to subscribe to. Send the check to Princeton High School, and Fund members will process your subscription. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Plummer at 466-3597.

building beyond 25% of the A. At the meeting, Frank P. Riche, attorney for the university, pointed out that the board's ruling means some unknown reason, no specific that any future expansion of all permits had been obtained. Firestone Library must be limited for the construction of the proposed 84% to 3,365,000 cubic feet, versus three library additions.

FOR TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE AND TAX COLLECTOR VOTE FOR THESE EXPERIENCED COMMUNITY LEADERS

WE PLEDGE TO WORK FOR THESE GOALS:

- Prudent management of the Township's financial affairs. We believe every dollar spent by the Township Committee should return 100 cents of benefit to Township taxpayers. The tax rate must be held in line.
- Maintenance of present zoning policies which protect the existing physical and economic character of the Township yet provide for orderly modification when necessary.
- Continued development and improvement of the Township's public roads in the interests of safety and a better traffic flow.
- One hundred percent enforcement of all laws affecting public health and safety, including housing and water and air pollution matters.
- Further development of the Greenspace program.
- Extension of the jointly excellent programs now being pursued jointly with our neighbors in the Borough.
- Full development of Community Park as specified in its original master plan and in accordance with the programs developed by the Joint Recreation Commission.
- Open-door, non-political conduct of the public business with the greatest possible communication between the citizens of the Township and their local government.

had asked the present addition be considered the first, as far as the board was concerned.

From testimony given earlier by university librarian William S. Dix, that 8% percent is not going to be enough. The University Library, he said, currently has about two million books, ranking it about 12th or 13th among all university libraries in the country.

Double Every 12-16 Years. His stacks are growing at about 3.2 percent a year. By 1983, Mr. Dix said, the library would house a projected 3,000,000 volumes. All available studies show, he added, that libraries double in size every 12 to 16 years. "There's nothing you can do about it as long as people continue to publish books."

The University library is actually comprised of Firestone Library, the largest building, slightly over half of all the books, and 15 branches, three of them at Forrester. The total staff is 240.

After hearing Dr. Dix describe the explosion in the publication of books throughout the world, increasing so rapidly as 32 percent a year in some countries, board member Charles St. John asked, "What's going to happen after 1983? Won't we be asking you again, asking for more space?"

Dr. Dix replied that it was inescapable. The only thing that can save us, he said, would be the introduction of computers, automation and micro films. Otherwise, at the present rate of growth, all university campuses would be all library; there wouldn't be room for anything else.

LEGION SETS PLANS
To Rededicate Memorial. To assure recognition due to those members of the Princeton Community who have given their lives in wars since World War I, American Legion Post 78 will rededicate the World War I Memorial. It was originally dedicated on Memorial Day, 1925.

Located at the intersection of Mercer and Stockton streets, the memorial reads: "Hold Dear Our Sons and Daughters Who Gave Their Lives in the World War for Freedom, 1914-1918."

Since 1847—only the finest comes from Mannings

Everyone with a built-in Guest Room! Hide-A-Bed Sofas by Simmons prepare for extra guests now and save. . .

Decorators say no living room sofa is worth the price unless it contains a built-in guest room. These Hide-A-Bed Sofas by Simmons do just that. They look like a regular sofa, sit like a regular sofa—but each contains a comfortable bed for two, with a full-length Simmons mattress. Made with thin, trim lines, fine tailoring details, rich decorator fabrics. We have a complete selection of Hide-A-Beds at various prices.

RECOGNITION FOR THOSE WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES: Princeton's World War I memorial at Stockton and Mercer streets will be rededicated on Veterans Day, Saturday, November 11, to include Princetonians who died in World War II, the Korean War and Vietnam. The project is the work of American Legion Post 78, which also is seeking to add decorative floral displays around the memorial to make it more noticeable.

New Landscaping Planned. In conjunction with the new inscriptions, the Legion felt that new planting should be undertaken around the site to draw more attention to it. The aid of Princeton's garden clubs and a landscape architect was enlisted to provide a well conceived floral display.

The list of Princetonians to be honored by the memorial includes: World War I, William S. Agar, William Anderson, John C. Bennett, G. G. Cameron, A. J. Camp, Nicholas S. Chantisse, John S. Conner, Ernest J. Cushing Jr., Victor H. Eilday, Francis J. Foley, James J. Higgins Jr., Walter P. Hall Jr., Daniel B. Hill, Leroy Hyer, James P. Kelley, John Lewis, Roger Leyden, Arthur R. Mandau, Albert McCrohan.

Also John Melvitz, Donald Mixsell, John A. Mooney, Anthony Pinelli, Joseph A. Pinelli, G. K. Piper, Ralph A. Pizone, Thomas V. Platten, Curtis P. Polson, Edwin Postner, Norman Postner, Richard O. Robinson, Robert E. Rosen, Richard Rossmaster, John B. Ruch, Clarence Sussman, C. William Silvester, John C. Saunders, Alphonse Thompson.

Also L. P. Venta, Richard Warfield, Richard G. Warren and William Wolman. In the Korean War, Charles E. Miller Jr., and in Vietnam, David T. Graham Jr. and Richard Shepherd.

The list was provided by Post 78, Charles R. Erdman, Jr., 26 Roundtree Street, should be notified concerning any omissions.

Correction

Mayor Henry S. Patterson says that he was incorrectly quoted in last week's story on the student demonstrations in front of the Institute for Defense Analyses building. In speaking to the demonstrators, the mayor told them that it did not matter where one's sympathies lay, the action of the crowd in blocking the ADA door was clearly illegal.

A Time to Remember

Have you a son or brother serving in Vietnam? As in the past, TOWN TOPICS looks forward to carrying names and addresses of all Princeton area residents in Vietnam so that they may receive Christmas greetings from those at home.

Early mailing of cards and letters is advisable. Addresses should be complete, including the man's rank, military attachment, APO or FPO city and zip code. Because of the number of men and women in service, only those currently stationed in Vietnam war zone can be listed.

INSPECTION CONTINUES

Of Township Houses. The house at 290 Witherspoon that was in the news last spring when the Township's housing inspection policies came into the spotlight, came up for discussion Thursday night before the Township Board of Health. Mrs. Harold Kuhn charged that the first-floor apartment was still without a bathroom. She said she regarded this as "a particularly gross violation" of the housing code, and urged the board to "exert pressures" to bring the apartment up to standard.

Mrs. Marcella Farley, Township Health Officer, told the board that Mrs. B. J. Liljedahl, owner of the property, was making reasonable progress in the matter, and she added that tenants in the second floor apartment have access to a bathroom on the second floor and another on the third floor. Mrs. Farley also reported that the tenant in the ground floor apartment had asked her not to pressure the landlord.

Keep This Man Working... For You

Henry Patterson is your Mayor because he is deeply dedicated to the needs of the Princeton community.

He is a hard working, diligent expert in municipal government. He tops a sincere smile with a touch of grey. His pride in Princeton shows through in solid accomplishments. Henry Patterson deserves your vote for Mayor.

There are some voters who delight in casting their vote "just for a change," without any thought to what a change will provide. It might just be that a vote for "change" will impede progress. Why vote for less than sound, solid accomplishment? The consistently good job he has done as your Mayor deserves your vote, not the easy promises of a politically ambitious, inexperienced candidate. Henry Patterson has done a solid job for Princeton. Don't settle for less, re-elect him.

If you cast your vote for inexperience, you'll get a new face, but will you get a better deal? Don't settle for less than solid accomplishment.

In this time of emotional appeals — pause a minute to think of all the things Henry Patterson has done for Princeton Borough and will do in the future.

Please, don't settle for less than Henry Patterson. He deserves your vote next Tuesday.

Sgt. Arthur Gallant ticketed
Samuel L. Frothingham, 70,

A Cleveland resident, Boris

Dr. Wei joined Mobil's Central Research Division Laboratory in Hopewell, N.J. in 1955. There his interests have ranged from chemistry to physics to chemical engineering to pure mathematics.

In 1968 Dr. Wei was chosen to receive the $5,000 Award in Petroleum Chemistry from the American Chemical Society. He is presently serving on the advisory committee in chemical engineering at the University of Florida and Cornell University.

SCIENTIST NAMED

To Textile Staff. Dr. Raymond D. Dyba, currently a resident of Wilmington, Del., and a future resident of Pennington, has been named to the research staff of Textile Research Institute as a staff scientist. He will conduct basic research into the physical nature of fiber surfaces.

Dr. Dyba had been with E. I. Du Pont de Nemours since 1964 as a research physicist before taking the new post with Textile Research. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Yale University.

SCIENTIST PROMOTED

To Senior Post. Dr. James Wei, 47 Broadripple Drive, has been advanced by Mobil Research and Development Corporation to the position of

"There are two overriding issues facing the nation right now: the war in Vietnam and the war in our cities. Every citizen knows this already. It is essential that every candidate for public office recognize that these are the basic issues, and that they are related issues.

"First, let us recognize how our Vietnam policy is poisoning the moral atmosphere. We are destroying a country and its people in order to pursue our dubious and ill-defined aims. Should we be surprised then that Negroes use violence to pursue their legitimate aims of decent housing and jobs? Let us not approve of the rioting, but let us realize that the bombs in Vietnam explode at home.

"Second, let us recognize that our efforts in Vietnam mean neglect elsewhere. I would like to see our state move ahead on such things as education, housing, job training, public transportation, and control of air and water pollution. But we cannot both rigorously pursue the war, and carry out needed domestic programs. It is useless to complain about air and water pollution when the federal funds needed for their control are being spent in Vietnam at the rate of two billion a month. It is scandalous to raise property taxes for education when we would have an additional $450 a year for each student in the country if we stopped the war in Vietnam. It is madness to build middle-income housing in this country while we burn villages in Vietnam.

"The State Legislature of Colorado has passed a resolution saying that . . . there has been no full and free discussion in the Congress of the United States on the origin of this war and the extent to which it is in the national interest." The State Legislature of Hawaii has requested the President "to continue all efforts to prevent the expansion of the war in Vietnam and to end the war through negotiation.

"It is time for New Jersey to speak to the nation.

"In 1964 I was among the 71% of the voters in Mercer County who thought we were choosing "no wider war" in Vietnam. Now in 1967 I say flatly let's get out of Vietnam and devote our energies to our overwhelming problems at home."

We will be voting for Paul Jacobs this November 7

Non-Violent Violence.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Below is an open letter to Dr. Richard A. Leiber, Director of the Institute for Defense Analysis. Dr. Leiber was in instrumental causing violent action in what was a non-violent demonstration.

Dear Dr. Leiber:

I am one of the students who was arrested in Monks' protest. I participated in this protest as a matter of conscience. The U. S. Government is carrying on a morally unjustifiable war against Vietnam, and I was compelled to protest your institution's involvement in the war and Princeton University's complicity as represented by its connection with the I. D. A.

"I am writing to you now for two reasons. First, I would like to apologize for any personal inconvenience my act of protest may be causing you. My act was intended to obstruct the activities of your institution, and was not directed against you as an individual.

The second reason that I am writing is to inform you of the personal injuries I have suffered as a consequence of an act of violence by one of your employees. As you know, my protest was clearly intended to be a non-violent action. After the police arrived at the scene of the protest, you apparently instructed one of your employees to enter the I. D. A. building.

"In his attempt to enter, he struck violently at me with his fist. You were a witness to the fact that this was a completely unprovoked act. As a result of this violent act, two of my teeth are cracked, and my jaw bone is broken, requiring medical treatment.

"I would appreciate hearing from you.

Reply to Mr. Alexander.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This is intended to be a non-political reply to political charges that the Princeton Bank and Trust Company has received special consideration from the Mayor and Council in being permitted to locate its new Motor Bank facility at the corner of Chambers and Washington Streets. Such charges are absolutely false.

The fact is that the Mayor and Council had no authority, or opportunity, either to approve or to disapprove the location with or "without a word to the public" because the Board, prior to requesting a building permit, had gone well beyond the requirements to conform with every applicable planning, zoning, parking and traffic law and regulation of the Borough as well as every regulation of the State and Federal banking authorities.

In addition, the Bank has voluntarily cooperated with the Borough authorities by providing an excess of off-street accommodations for cars awaiting service at the Motor Bank windows, by keeping the facility closed at peak traffic periods, and in many other less noticeable, but equally important, respects.

Motor Bank offices are an extension of the teller facilities of a bank, and exist to serve the needs of those customers whose banking requirements can be met while they are still in a car. To the extent drive-up services are successful, traffic is kept away from the center business core, and demands for parking are greatly reduced.

The attempt of a candidate for public office to make a political issue of such a subject without first having checked the facts to determine that an issue exists is not only misleading to the public but is a service to an institution that has provided service to the Princeton community since 1831.

Jacobs Explains His Stand

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In last week's Mailbox Mrs. Bernice S. Hicks of Lawrenceville claimed that I, Paul Jacobs, was "... voting the voters of Princeton with the promise that if he is elected he single-handed will end the war in Viet Nam." This "promise" occurs nowhere in my campaign literature or advertisements.

My campaign has stressed the idea that the voters need not wait until 1968 to repudiate the war in Vietnam. I would interpret as support for my political Democratic Congressional Frank Thompson's recent statement that "I have come to the definite conclusion that we must and absolutely should get out of Vietnam, even if it means a unilateral pull-out and 'loss of face' in Southeast Asia."

Mrs. Hicks seemed to be upset by my taking a stand on Vietnam while running for state office. A few weeks ago, Republican Senator Mark Hatfield, speaking here in Princeton, endorsed the idea of candidates for state office taking a stand on Vietnam, and mentioned how he himself had spoken out strongly against the war while Governor of Oregon (cf., our own Governor Hughes).

I think it is also relevant to point out the actual Vietnam taken by other state legislators, in Colorado (H.C.R. No. 1401) and Hawaii (H.C.R. No. 7).

As a candidate for State Assembly from Suburban Mercer County I have, of course, taken a stand on a broad range of issues. For example, in contrast to my Democratic opponent, I am against state aid for bus-ing non-public school students.

I do not consider my campaign in any sense frivolous, and I trust that the voters will respect an honest and serious attempt to face up to the issues.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It was indeed heartening to note during this political campaign Mayor Patterson and his running mates planted a tree instead of tying posters to trees. I feel it is the least they could have done after allowing the destruction of so many other trees by approving street widening.

At Mayor Patterson's tree-planting rate, the loss of trees incurred during his administration should be made up by 1985.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In response to Mrs. Earle's letter (TOWN TOPICS, October 26), comparing the pay given tax collectors in the Borough ($3,000) and the Township ($350), she and many other voters should be aware that the Township, according to the Report of the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations, paid $30,243 in 1964 for the salaries of the tax collectors, $3,000 more than the Borough for the same amount of tax dollars collected. The additional cost was due primarily to the extra tax clerk needed in the Township office, whereas the Borough utilizes the services of Mrs. Coan during the business

WOODROW WILSON The Academic Years

by Henry Wilkinson Bragdon

Mr. Bragdon's book describes Woodrow Wilson's student days at Princeton, the University of Virginia, and Johns Hopkins; his seventeen-year career as professor of history and political economy at Bryn Mawr, Wesleyan, Johns Hopkins, and Princeton; and finally his eight years as President of Princeton University.

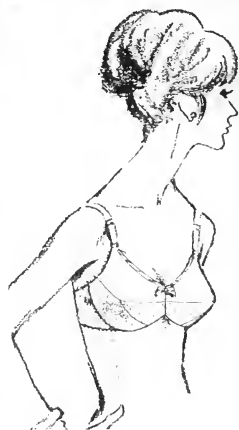

Here is Wilson in the unlikely roles of football coach, of a teacher of graduate students at Johns Hopkins, of an insider at Princeton (before his appointment as President). Particularly revealing are the chapters dealing with the two classic academic rows that nearly shook Princeton apart during the last years of his tenure as president of the university.

Anyone who would understand Woodrow Wilson, either as a man or in his comparatively brief role as a politician and statesman, must study this less well-known, earlier period of his life during which his habits of thought and traits of character became firmly established.

Borough voters have the opportunity to take the politics out of an important Administrative office in the operation of local government by voting for and giving tenure to the incumbent tax collector, Mr. Marie B. Coan. The state law recognizes that a competency making position should not really be decided by the election process but should rightfully fall into the financial operation of a local unit. There is not new to the Borough since the Republican incumbent tax collector has tenure in his job.

Mr. Coan, in her two years in this office, has achieved a 100 percent record in the collection, and in her relationship with the taxpayer, has carried out her duties with a high degree of professionalism as a public servant. She is one of those rare women who can manage her home, public career, and community role with a high degree of efficiency, warmth, and personality. Our community is fortunate to have such a dedicated woman.

Constructive Change Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I was very pleased to read the statement in the October 26 issue of TOWN TOPICS concerning the problem of traffic control in the Princeton Shopping Center. "Who Cares We Do!", sponsored by the Princeton Area Educational Institutions, Business and Research, again called Princeton's attention to the lack of safety controls in our shopping center. Chief of Police James B. Campbell, Jr., is quoted as feeling there is need for enforcement of traffic control and, although this is private property, methods are available by which the police department can get jurisdiction over this area.

The problem has been identified, a method of seeking changes has been delineated, and now is the time for action by the Princeton Township Committee. We must wait until a tragedy has occurred if you leave TOWN TOPICS, the best way to express your indignation is to mention it to our advertisers.

NOTICE

TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter on a subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to Editors should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. Letters received more than Monday afternoon may be held for use in the following week.

Letters taking appropriate steps.

The Township Committee must go to the owners of the shopping center to make the desires of the Princeton community known to them. The time for action is now. The safety of all of us is at stake.

Many features of the Princeton Shopping Center were mistakes. This, I think, is simply what is clear — or, at least, not agreed upon — is that mistakes of this nature should be allowed to exist without constructive change forever. Something can be done to improve conditions in this area as well as others and it is incumbent upon Township government to supply some of the initiative and leadership to keep our community safe.

MONTAGUE BROWN

In the Interest of Safety.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I think your editorial on traffic safety is a good idea, but it would seem to me that it should be directed to the careless driver, the thoughtless driver, rather than to malign the Princeton Shopping Center with half truths, misrepresentation of facts and fake photographs.

According to your report, around 1960, three years ago, the accident of the three teen-agers escaping death, the incident occurred at 8 p.m. on a Tuesday evening. Two to two and a half hours after the store had closed and the parking lots were empty of cars. Why imply that this is what you can expect at the Shopping Center? The time the teenagers were running cars was low.

er Harrison Street Bridge and ran head on into a tree and finally landed in Princeton Hospital — I didn't notice a two page spread maligning Princeton University or Princeton Township — that tree was on private property too.

About a year ago, three carloads of kids came racing in to the Center and started "horsing around." I placed a call to the Township who responded immediately. The kids were finally apprehended by the Police. The kids drove 25 miles an hour on N. Harrison Street and in about an hour on Nassau Street, do you? So why blame the Shopping Center? These kids had been driving from Princeton to get to the Shopping Center. Why not say you can expect the unexpected in Princeton?

I've been at the Shopping Center for one and one half years and the majority of the accidents that have occurred are not even newsworthy. Most are caused by careless drivers people who back out in both directions as they pull out of the parking areas — or come into the lot and back into the fire hydrant. These incidents are not the fault of the Shopping Center. Most are caused by careless drivers who back out in both directions as they pull out of the parking areas, with cars pulling out onto the road, they soon slow down. These same kids travel the Roads of Princeton too with a heavy foot.

The Center is patrolled by the Township Police on a 24 hour basis, at the request of the Shopping Center. When heavy traffic is anticipated, the Merchants Association hires Township Police to control and direct traffic — so we don't care half! Why don't you, for the sake of argument, pick a 35-acre spot that has as much traffic going through it as the Shopping Center, with as much roadway and intersections and lets compare accidents, fatalities etc. And incidentally, the police are called on any accident involving two cars and the Township is called on any accident involving cars entering the Center during a given period. I'd be interested to see what you find out. At least it would be a fair comparison.

Last but not least — fake photography — just to prove your point? Your picture, looking out from the Bamberger entrance is misleading. Your car is exiting in the entrance lane and even our Shoppers know better than that. I am totally surprised that your sponsors, all worthy organizations, can condone such malfeasance.

Mrs. Jerome R. Schubert
111 Dutch Neck Road
Highstown

Editor's Note: With every accident risks human suffering and financial loss. This amounts at times to incalculable disaster, affecting families, jobs and the future of children. Our great concern is prevention. We deliberately chose a photo to dramatize the fact that motor vehicle rules and regulations cannot be enforced at the Princeton Shopping Center by the Township police. Surely all employees of the Center and members of the Merchants Association have wished when the police were called up that the accident had not happened.

While Princeton University authorities the Township police to enforce all motor vehicle rules and regulations on such roads as Faculty and College, although these are definitely private property, the Shopping Center, with a higher traffic tally, denies this protection to Princeton residents. Princeton police are charged with patrolling public property, not private property. In Princeton Township, the owners of the Lawrence Shopping Center have turned over control of motor vehicle law enforcement to the Lawrence police in the interests of public safety. We believe that to be a sensible pattern to follow.

JHEY! I GOT PLANKTON!
Tees are Biologists. Carefully lowering a Secchi disc in to the water for a while jar-up with a string running through it, you can determine the limit of light penetration in a pond. But? When you can't see the disc any more, the light has stopped.

You learn this by doing it, when you take sophomore biology at Princeton High School. It's part of the ecological approach, blocked out in the "Green" version of the Biological Sciences Curriculum Study (B.S.C.S.) and for about 150 PHS sophomores it's a happy and productive way of life.

In recent days, husbands of PHS biologists have stepped by a pleasant autumn roadhouse in Princeton Township so that eager biologists can scramble down a steep hillside to a pair of large, tranquil ponds. This is the ecological "laboratory."

Ecology, in cave biology for years in your past, is the study of interrelationships — the ways in which certain plants support not only each other, but the animal life around them. At PHS, the study of ecology is itself ecological, because the students are divided into teams that support one another and so contribute to the whole environment. This, in the complete and final report.

Teamwork Works. Arrived at the ponds, each team member moves quickly to his assigned job. Canoes donated by parents and students, are lined along the shore, and two boys climb into a canoe and push off to the center of the pond. They are the ones measuring light penetration. This has significant importance for ecology because the oxygen supply will be less as the light is less, and at ten feet deep where there is no light, there will be no submerged plants. Meanwhile, boys and girls on other teams are exploring the shorelines and wading cautiously into the shallow water.

These are oxygen-rich ponds, according to William Alston, biology teacher on the shore, and they support a lot of life. Crayfish and salamanders, tiny insect larvae — you never know what will come up in a careful netting of the water.

"We don't collect," Mr. Alston explains. "We find, and we note, and that's all. We don't bring back anything, not even the big water plants. I don't like the idea of collecting. It takes too much time, and it disturbs valuable relationships in the pond." Plankton, the microscopic animals that live in the pond, are carefully screened from in-dweller objects, and these are an exception to the "collecting" rule because they are taken back for examination under a microscope.

Students are divided into teams that examine the shore line for herbaceous plants and trees; rooted and emergent water plants, submerged water plants, open-water plankton, plankton found in the zone of the submerged plants and in the zone of the emergent plants; scrapings from plants and other submerged surfaces (a device a way to do collecting); is the instruction to this particular team.

Other teams look for snails, crayfish, reptiles, birds and whatever larger organisms are around or in the pond; make sketches and photographs, collect climatological data, test the turbidity, color, pH factor and temperature of the water, make an analysis of the soil, determine the rate of light in the pond.

University Contributors. After these data were accumulated last week, pupils in the biology classes sat around a table with Dr. H. S. Horn of the biology department at Princeton University.

Dr. Horn, an ecologist, is the resource person for the course, and he looked at the graph presentations and the sketches made by the students and listened to the findings.

"It was like pre-ordained you're in a big scientific organization where the co-operative approach is used," Mr. Alston says. "I was very pleased at the way the students look over when Dr. Horn was with us."

The next step is to write a research paper based on the work of your own team, and the teams that shared the ecology with you.

Other biology teachers using the ecology method are Wayne Nelson and Edwin Brown. Future field trips will be made to Herronstown Woods and to the pine barrens. Mr. Nelson has already taken a class to Island Beach, and other classes may go there in the future.

Princeton High's biology teachers do not seed a pond first to make sure it's rich in plant and animal life. "We're happy if something different does turn up," Mr. Alston smiles. "It's great to make a discovery!"

1 TAX COLLECTOR = 5 x THE MAYOR?

The Borough Tax Collector receives $2400 a year, almost five times as much as the Mayor. And this for a job that is actually done by a full-time professional staff.

Christine St. John
will get that salary reduced.

The incumbent Collector, under New Jersey law, will get tenure for life if re-elected. Keep the Collector's office under control of the voters.

Christine St. John
will never accept tenure herself.

ART In Princeton

STUART PLANS SHOWING OF Peter Cook Paintings.
Peter Cook's Princeton portraits and Maine paintings will be shown at the Stuart Country Day School as part of the Art Committee's scheduled program for the year and in particular as the annual school benefit. There will be a tea and opening for parents,
friends and guests on Sunday,
November 1.

The show will continue through the month and will be open to the public on Saturdays and Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m. The portraits are almost entirely from private collections and are being exhibited here for the first time through the courtesy of the owners.

The landscape - marines are the result of the last two summers in Maine. Mr. Cook has lived and painted for almost thirty years in Kingston with his summer studio in Wiscasset, Maine. He is a member of the National Academy of Design, the Century Association and is associated with Portraits, Inc., New York.

Questions and Answers. Last winter Mr. Cook spoke at Douglass College as one the lecturers for the new Residence Hall Program. Excerpts from this talk and ensuing discussion and comments from a recent press conference are reproduced here as pertinent explanations of why and how this artist has spent thirty years in his choice profession as portrait and landscape painter. The questions usually asked go somewhat in the following order:

"Why do you paint?" "I think of painting as the ultimate in freedom of artistic expression. In no other art form does the creator have as much freedom over both conception and execution. Nowadays, the painter is left to do pretty much as he pleases with his materials, so it is each painter's responsibility to find his own way according to the dictates of his tastes, interests and ability."

"Do you like to paint me, woman or children best?"
"People, any and all of them in their separate ways, are interesting to paint, sometimes with their dogs, cats or even in herds. As we have a dog who loves to chase cats, the cats come to the studio in baskets. If once had a commission to paint a Master of the Hounds on his horse with his whole pack. Each one of the dogs had an individual character to the Master."

"Is it easier to paint someone you know?" "Not necessarily - one's wife is the hardest of all."

"Do you make preliminary sketches?" "No, I begin right away in paint on canvas, working mass against mass in design and getting closer and closer to completing the form within it."

"What is your approach to painting?" "I have searched for valid and orderly criteria to use in my work. Two factories are most important, selective vision and self criticism.
Even before he starts working,
while the picture is groping for shape in the mind's eye, a painter's critical sense will select and reject ideas as they come to the imagination."

Each step of the way is guided by what will be good, or at least better than something else. Technical proficiency as a foundation is important. An artist spends a good deal of time learning a language, a way of handling his tools.
There are many delights in painting and one of them is the process of exploration, of finding new means, new effects and acquiring skill in their use."

"Good craftsmanship is used to clear the path for the instinctive, the language of the experienced. Design is equally as important and it's probably true that good design is felt or just happens as often as it is consciously worked out. All of these are necessary to strive for but the greatest hope - for quality to achieve is vitality."

"How do you approach portraiture in particular?" "To an artist a portrait is first a itare painting, the existence of form in light and space, and then a portrait. It is a long process. Why do you paint landscape when the major part of your work is in portraiture?" "Not only is landscape painting a relaxation but it allows me to experiment with things without the demands of likeness tends to keep loose my portrait painting technique."

"What do you think of abstract painting?" "While there is much in abstract art that I admire, I am essentially a humanist at heart. I paint in the realistic tradition because what actually happens in real life or nature is a source of inspiration to me."

A PETER COOK PORTRAIT: One of the Peter Cook paintings on view at his show at Stuart Country Day School is this portrait of Ronald Koerber (now Mrs. Andrew Friedl), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Koerber of Kingston.

"What is the future of painting?" "As long as people can see the spirit of man can be moved by the visual. For these lucky enough to be able to pursue painting to the point where the medium is controlled to speak out to others, the fascination of painting never ends."

Some of the posters are op-wards a vortex, some are simple, symbolic, like "Cleopatra

Five posters by an artist

the most imaginative group which includes a delightful illustration for a children's ingly effective print of "The

The paintings called "small"

How Much Should a Tax Collector Be Paid?

State statutes require that Princeton Borough and Princeton Township must have a position of tax collector. However, in communities of our size, the actual duties and work of this office are carried out by full-time staffs, so that the nominal "tax collector" has very little work to do.

Princeton Township is realistic and pays its tax collector $350. However, Princeton Borough pays $2,400. Christine St. John, Republican candidate for Borough tax collector recognizes this inconsistency and states that so long as Princeton Borough has what is essentially a volunteer government the tax collector should not receive more than the Mayor.

Christine St. John pledges that, if elected, she will ask Mayor and Council to reduce the tax collector's salary to an amount commensurate with the duties involved and with that of our other volunteer elected officials.

SPORTS In Princeton

NOVEMBER MAY BE LONG
How Many More for Tigers?
Will November, 1967, be the first month in the current decade that will see a Princeton football team lose the final three games on its schedule?
Not since 1959 have Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth taken the measure of the Tigers on successive Saturdays. This week, a look at the upcoming game with Brown gave many indications that a young Princeton team heavily beset with injuries might be unable to win more than one of its final four contests.

Saturday's meeting with the Bruins, set for 1:30 in Palmer Stadium, is expected to provide Princeton with a victory margin of upwards of two touchdowns. As Rhode Island continued defeated Colgate, 7-0, Saturday for its first victory since September, 1966, but it has managed an average of less than a touchdown in its five games this season.

The adage that "on a given Saturday, any Ivy team can beat any other member of the league" would hardly appear to have sufficient legs to stand on this weekend. If it does, the Tigers won't have any.

Storm Signals in New England. While Princeton was having occasional problems with Pennsylvania, eventually holding off the Quakers, 19 to 14, it was becoming increasingly apparent that for the first time in a number of seasons, Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale have all developed powerhouses simultaneously. The big surprise is the Elis, who have the good fortune to have the Dowling and Calvin Hill healthy and functioning behind a big first line. There are signs, too, that Yale can hold its own with the defensive platoons of any Ivy entry.

Ivy League Forecast

Princeton over Brown.
Little chance of an upset.
Cornell over Columbia.
On overall speed.
Dartmouth over Yale. Indians on balance.

Harvard over Penn. Crimson still in Ivy race.
Last Week
1 Right, 4 Wrong — 200

After Brown, the Tigers will face this confrontation: invasion of Cambridge where a sophomore Scott MacBeath. The veteran Harvard team will not only be eager to remain in the league race at their expense but will be aching for revenge for last year's 14-0 upset. A visit from Yale, likely to be heavily favored to record its first victory over Princeton in seven of the longest years; and finally a meeting with Dartmouth which, if it can handle the Elis this weekend, will be a shoe-in to come here battling for its third undefeated season in six years.

Off its problems at the present time, it would appear that Princeton will achieve almost as much of a surprise if it upsets one of its last three opponents as it did in winning all of its last three games in 1966. Harvard, despite its two-point loss to Dartmouth, is the equal of last year's team which was, and Yale is incomparably better than the weak (4-5) team which the Tigers barely edged, 13-7, last year on a blocked punt; and Dartmouth — not a rebuilding team — is the final opponent on the schedule.

As if the need to bring along a young squad (there are only 12 letterman and only 11 seniors on the roster) slowly from week to week were not enough of a problem, the coaching staff has been confronted with a steadily mounting injury list. Among the latest additions are Bohar, Stefkiewicz, a starting guard on offense; linebacker Bruce Wayne, who handled virtually all the punt returns until he broke his jaw in the Colgate game; defensive back, Mike Manzo, who broke his wrist on the opening kickoff; and tailback Bob Weber, who sat out the entire second half after being severely jarred while making a fumble recovery.

Tigers Take Charge. Although the overall performance against Pennsylvania was not of the calibre to make for November optimism, there is no need to fault a team which dominates an opponent as the Tigers did on Saturday. They moved out to four touchdowns before the third quarter was six minutes over, and while they lost the initiative thereafter, the personnel which included numerous reserves gained needed experience while yielding two touchdowns to be ever-hopeful Quakers.

HOW TO COVER A FUMBLE: Even a motionless football can squelch away from you if you don't cradle it before your body hits the ground. Tigers' second touchdown followed almost immediately in eventual 28-14 triumph. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Mathews)

Weber's picturesque ability was largely responsible for the first two scores. He ran or passed on all nine plays that covered 35 yards for the initial TD and added a second six-point on an over-the-shoulder catch of an aerial thrown by sophomore Scott MacBeath. The second drive was set up when tackle Dick Sandler caused a Penn fumble on the losers' four, one of five Princeton recoveries during the day to make a total of 11 such recoveries in its last two games.

The Orange and Black went 67 yards after receiving the second half kickoff, sophomore tailback Ellis Moore going through left guard into the end zone from five yards out. It closed up shop for the day after sophomore safetyman Keith Mauney contributed a gaudy interception and 25-yard scoring run at 5:29 of the third period.

It was Mauney who recovered the second-quarter fumble preceding Weber's score on the MacBeath pass. Thus the defense was directly responsible for two of Princeton's touchdowns, a welcome sign in view of the tendency of the Tiger attack to sputter fitfully during a good part of the afternoon.

to hang on to the ball. In Creeden's first five outings this season, the ends and backs to whom he threw have dropped 38 of 47 passes, which might reasonably have been held. Against Princeton, he attempted to complete only 11 of 31 for 147 yards. When he threw for the fifth time, he broke Columbia Archie Roberts' career record for passes attempted (382) and may set others of a more worthwhile nature if he gets a normal degree of cooperation from his receivers in his last four games.

The lovers went 30 yards as the fourth quarter opened for their first score, picked off an errant pass by Dick Bradshaw and covered another 45 for their second. Creeden took the ball in both times.

Before the game ended, they had reached the Tiger three and then the ten, fumbles both times ending the scoring bids. The drives were made against a Princeton defense that contained a number of reserves—bolstered, fortunately, by Captain Lee Hitcher, whose tackle jarred the ball loose the first time, and by linebacker Craig Stone, who was credited with causing the fumble on the second occasion.

Brown Building Slowly. When the 1966 season ended for Brown with a losing streak of eight straight, John McLaughry retired as the Bruins' coach and Len Jardine, a top flight end at Purdue in the late '50s, was named as his successor. He may have the coaching ability to pull Brown football out of the depths; the question is whether he will have the material.

For the past five years, the Rhode Islanders have finished higher than seventh only once, and they have never been in the first division since the 1950s.

INTERCEPTS TWICE: Ron McCrewe's two pass interceptions helped pave the way to a 20-13 PHS win Saturday over East Brunswick.

McCrewe's interceptions went formal in 1966. In common with the other perennial tail enders, Penn and Columbia, they have not defeated Princeton in the current decade—their last triumph coming in 1954.

QUICK LOOK AT BROWN
OFFENSE: Rebuilding under new coaching, regains Princeton's passing team lacks breakaway and power-running backs.

DEFENSE: Well staffed with wet runs but has yielded an average of better than three touchdowns in first five games.

CHIEF ASSET: Raising of quarterback Hal Phillips, combined with left linemen after ending 12 game losing streak.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Lack of top-flight players.

TYPE OF OFFENSE: 1 with variation.

Hal Phillips, a junior who did not see varied action last year, is the ranking quarterback this season, backed by senior Mike Mazzilli. The top running back is fullback Steve Wormthorpe, and Greg Konios is the Bruins' leading pass receiver.

After dropping their opener to Rhode Island, the lone opponent they defeated last season, the Bruins were confronted with the possibility that they might lose all six in 1967. Colgate, however, solved their problems in this respect by dropping its sixth in a row Saturday, and in honor of having ended Brown's 12 game losing streak. Jardine was carried off the field.

Lack of an offense is Brown's greatest difficulty this year. He has scored a lone touchdown against Rhode Island, Penn, Dartmouth and Colgate while being blanked by Yale. Its Ivy opponents have all scored four touchdowns or more against it, and if Weber is in condition Saturday, expectancies are that Princeton will follow suit.

PHS WINS THE BIG ONE.

Steinert Here Saturday. Have never seen a better high school ball game? A tremendous game Tremendous!

The question and even the offers were by the Little Tigers and their ardent boosters. Princeton High School principal Ken Michael said his arrival here five years ago, Michael has followed the lead-up to the season of every PHS football game. He has suffered the defeats and bays in the victories as much as the players over the years, but probably no someone of any game was as satisfying to him—and PHS coach Dick Wood—as Saturday's 20-13 triumph over visiting East Brunswick.

To do it, the Little Tigers had to come from behind twice to top East Brunswick, which only the week before had upset the second ranked team in the PHS in the closing minutes of the game on a fourth-and-five situation on a 24-yard pass from Tom Yoder to Tom Taylor that had the entire Bear team fooled. And in the final minute of play it was PHS again, not East Brunswick, that was driving backward.

In winning, the Little Tigers proved that they could indeed nail down the big one. It was plain from the reaction of the East Brunswick coach after the game that the Bears had been confident they were going to make PHS another one of their victims. In short, the Little Tigers wanted this one a little more than East Brunswick. They deserve to be ranked near the top among the teams in the Delaware Valley area.

Final Home Game. The high-riding Blue and White will make its final home appearance Saturday against Steinert. The starting time has been changed from 2 to 11 a.m. In addition, the four teams of the Princeton Midget Football League will take part in the half-time ceremonies.

Steinert was king of the hall last year in Mercer County, winning all nine of its games for its best season ever. This fall, the Spartans have won only two, including a 19-6 decision over wireless Trenton in their last outing.

Clearly, Steinert coach Pete Brescia is looking ahead to next year, as he is going with a team dominated by underclassmen. Coach Wood reported the Spartans use the same type of offense as East Brunswick, a winged T or slot T which was so successful for them last year. A victory over Steinert—anything else is hard to imagine—would clinch for PHS the sectional championship of the Southern Group 4 Division.

In addition, the likelihood of a PHS victory will be further enhanced by the probable return of co-captain Tom Butterfield. Princeton High's all-scholastic tackle has been sidelined the last four games with a leg infection, but according to Wood, doctors say the leg is healing faster than they expected.

Their Eldest Hour. Against East Brunswick Saturday, the Little Tigers had some problems trying to contain the visitors' time running and passing. Continued on Next Page ing quarterback Dan Jackson, but over-and when the chips were down—they were magnificent. This was their final hour of the season.

The Little Tigers scored in the second period on a one-yard plunge by fullback Charlie Madden to tie the score at 6-6. Coach Gardner's attempted conversion was blocked.

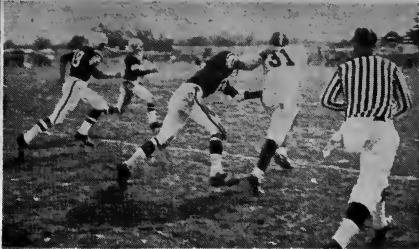

They scored again in the third period on a 20-yard pass from Thom Yoder to end Jay Springer to tie the count again at 13-13. They won the game with 2:10 remaining in the final period on a Yoder pass covering 24 yards to co-captain Tom Taylor.

Ironically, the winning play was the same delayed pass to the wingback cutting across and deep that PHS had used to score two TDs the week before—both to Huston Webber. Wood had said that PHS wouldn't be able to come back with the play because East Brunswick would be watching for it.

The visitors did keep Webber bottled up, knocking him down and preventing him repeatedly from getting across the line of scrimmage, to hold the Little Tigers' high-scoring scorers. But they forgot to cover Taylor.

When the pass was thrown deep, everyone looking on could see that Taylor was alone in the clear. With his hands upstretched and running into the sun all he had to do was catch the ball arcing toward him. Buzz pulled it in and the Little Tiger beast exploded with 37.

Visitors Look Sharp. From the start, East Brunswick displayed the crispness and authority of a well-coached, well-disciplined team. On the second play of the game, Jackson hit back Carl Bunting with a 10-yard pass play that carried to the PHS 11. PHS held on its three but East Brunswick methodically began driving again.

With Jackson hiding the ball nicely, handing off or rolling out, East Brunswick drove 50 yards in 11 plays for the game's first score. The big play en route was a fourth and two situation from the 10. The Bears just made it and one PHS onlooker growled, "They talk about baseball being a game of inches."

PHS tried to get a drive of its own under way. It got as far as the 19 Webber providing the first down, but the Bears held. McEwen picked off a Jackson pass but a few plays later, Jackson intercepted an intended Walstad aerial to Springer.

Then three line back-to-back defensive plays—highlighted by Nick Ryan's spilling Jackson for a 10-yard loss—forced the Bears to kick. Taylor, who is most dangerous on punt returns, carried the ball to the East Brunswick 48.

CHARLIE MADDEN RUNNING FOR DAYLIGHT: Ability of fullback Charlie Madden to run up the middle against East Brunswick was one of the reasons PHS coach Dick Wood gave for the Little Tigers' 26-13 victory. "The more Charlie ran the better he got," said Wood. Here he is going for a first down in the final quarter. (Staff Photo)

Walstad, whose passing had been erratic, settled down. He hit Springer for nine yards. He hit Webber for 22. Then he hit his third different receiver, end Joe Fischer, who dragged his defender across the goal line, but the referee ruled his knee had touched at the half-foot line. Madden bulldozed over PHS in the third period.

Early in the third period, PHS was guilty of its biggest mistake. Matt Alexander, who kicked superbly for PHS all morning, failed to find the handle on a punt snapback from Karl Stange. East Brunswick took over on the PHS 32 and scored in seven plays.

Taylor was one tackle away from returning the next kickoff all the way. He was finally pulled down on the 38 of the Bears. Webber and Madden moved the ball overland to the 26. Yoder followed a six yard jump pass to Springer with a 10-yard TD aerial. Springer accounting for much of the yardage after he caught the ball. McEwen's second pass interception stopped East Brunswick on one drive. A hard tackle by Alexander, forcing a fumble that Taylor recovered, stopped them again.

Another turning point came with 8:16 to go when Jackson, scrambling all over, avoiding one PHS tackler after another and giving the PHS coaches fits, was finally bit by three men at once. He had to leave the game. His successor, said Wood, was not able to run and pass the ball as effectively as Jackson.

McWen. Lauded. Wood tried the play of McWen after the contest. "Ron had his best day of the year," he said. "He made some good tackles and played his position well."

Wood also singled out Charlie Madden. "He had a great day," he said. "His ability to run against East Brunswick made a lot of difference. His threat up the middle gave us more latitude and gave us what, I think, was a more balanced attack than East Brunswick's."

Wood also mentioned the big advantage of having two tailbacks of equal ability — a Yoder and Watstad. Last week, Watstad threw for three TDs. This time, when he was not as sharp, Yoder stepped in and connected for two of the 21 TDs scored by PHS this season. I have come through the air. Not too many years ago it was noteworthy if PHS scored more than twice all season with the pass.

Actually, as Wood pointed out, he has two players of equal ability in every backfield position — John and Charlie Madden at fullback, Fred Fox and Dave Drake at quarterback, and Weber and Taylor at wide. It is this kind of depth and balance in its attack that has PHS needed for an 8-1 season.

ANOTHER BIG ONE LOOMS
For Surging PHS Panthers. Somewhere in its schedule, each fall, every football team be it school, college or pro, likes to take at least one and hopefully two contests known in the trade as a "breather." The squad does not have to be at a peak mentally and physically, but occasionally get by its much weaker opponent without a top effort.

For Princeton Day School football team there are two breathers this season, and Saturday at 2 p.m. the squad will again have to be at its best if it hopes to knock off an undefeated St. Andrews eleven on its home field in Middle town, N.J. Needed will be another performance like last Friday's, when the Panthers threw their best ball to date in routing Englewood School, 34-7.

The distance between here and Middletown has not made scouting feasible for either side, but the two schools have exchanged films of a recent game. Coach Dan Barren will be able to get some ideas of St. Andrews' offensive and defensive capabilities before Saturday.

Barren does know that St. Andrews was 4-0 through last Friday, with one of those victories coming against Wilmington Friends by a score of 38-6. The George School, which beat PHS in pre-season scrimmages, tied Wilmington earlier in the season. Barren also reported that St. Andrews was bigger physically than PHS, a familiar story all season.

Challenge for PHS. After losing its first three games to opponents all of which all are still unbeaten (Hill, Chestnut Hill, and Montclair), the Panthers blanked St. Bernards and notched their second win against Englewood. Saturday will give them another chance to knock a team from the ranks of the unbeaten, something they have yet to do this season.

It's a difficult assignment, but the team has shown itself increasingly able to handle such tasks. The prospect of breaking St. Andrews' record at 3-3 is also at hand.

The Englewood contest was a crucial one for PHS, but the outcome was never in doubt, as PHS scored three times in the first half and again in the third period before Englewood managed its lone tally. Every PHS player saw action.

After having its first touchdown nullified by a penalty, the Panthers moved from Englewood's 49-yard line for a score, with Charlie Fox going for an 81-yard punt for the first of two touchdowns. John Claghorn ran the PAT across.

Claghorn Tallies. In the second quarter a four-yard pass from quarterback Bill Rigot to end Rick Ross gave PHS a 1-0 lead, with Rigot running the extra point over. Minutes later Claghorn busted through the Englewood line on an off-tackle play and went 50 yards for the score. Dave Vornack kicked his first extra point of the season, and PHS led 21-0 at the half.

Englewood played fired-up football at the beginning of the second half, which lasted until Page took off on a trip covering 70 yards to the lesser's three-yard line. Rigot took it in from there on a keeper.

Coming to life again in the fourth quarter, Englewood completed a pass deep in PHS territory and moved the ball over for its only score. With less than two minutes to go Barren had yards at quarterback to give him some added experience at signal calling.

Perhaps frustrated by missing a touchdown on his last 70-yard run, Page took the snap from center and this time made it to the end zone with another 70-yard jump. Page's long runs plus other rushing PHS' backfield added up to a whopping 48 yards gained rush.

The 34 points pleased Barren (Englewood had only given up 33 prior to the game), but he was happiest about the team's defensive work. "We really did some hard hitting up there," he commented. Barren also praised the Princeton Andrews, converted from PHS coaching, for his fine blocking.

HUN WINS AGAIN
At Bryn Athyn Friday. Hun School tied Perkasie 12-12 earlier this season for the only blemish on its record. George School which owns the only undefeated united record in the Penn-Syracuse League, edged Perkasie, 7-6.

How did Bryn Athyn, the team that will play host to Hun this Friday, fare against last year's league champions? Hun coach Hawley Waterman, who witnessed the contest, reported Bryn Athyn "humiliated" Perkasie, 38-6. They scored three touchdowns before Perkasie knew what was happening.

Waterman continued that "Bryn Athyn has shown me that they are perfectly capable of winning every game they play."

have left. They can take any body on any given day.

Waterman added that Bryn Athyn (3-1) was not a particularly good passing team "but they are in great condition. They're rough and ready. I don't think our kids will be looking past Bryn Athyn to George School."

Hun (4-0-1) must get by the formidable Pennsylvania school prior to its showdown battle with George here next week. If it hopes to snatch the league title. With the exception of Bryn Athyn, George has steamrollered over the opposition this fall. Both it and Hun have a stingy defense.

Defense Praised. In last week's game with Friends Central, which Hun won, 19-7, Waterman described the play of the defense as "magnificent." "I don't think we allowed them more than four first downs all afternoon."

Elsewhere, the Hun mentor was less favorably disposed. "We played terribly," he said. "We fumbled five times! Twice on receiving punts. He added the team was guilty of ragged play and "all kinds of dumb things. We should have scored 30 points or more."

Part of the blame he laid at "weekenditis. It was a free weekend for Hun, no school on Saturday, and Waterman said that perhaps too many boys had their mind on what they were going to do and not on football.

Hun tallied all its TDs on short runs, one of eight yards by Steve Peters in the first period, another of six yards by Mark Short in the second, for a 12-9 half-time lead, and one by Dick Mate in the final period. Mate scored on a one-yard plunge.

Waterman cited the defensive play of middle linebacker Doug Townsend, who led the team in tackles with eight. Duke Chute, back at his familiar spot at tackle, after a stint at fullback, was second with seven.

ANOTHER TOURNAMENT WON
By Mrs. Whelan. Collecting three straight birdies and a final score of 76, Mrs. James J. Whelan won the year's final medal play tournament of the Garden State Women's Golf Association.

Playing the Springbrook Club course in Morristown, Mrs. Whelan birdied the 145-yard 10th hole, the 155-yard 11th hole and 175-yard 11th hole, all par three, sinking putts of nine, 11 and 27 feet.

The ladies closing luncheon was held at the Springdale Golf Club with prizes awarded to the following: Mrs. James Thornton, club championship medalist and winner, and spring tournament medalist; Mrs. James Blair, club championship runner-up; Mrs. Fred Blautner, spring tournament winner; Mrs. Mac Morris, spring tournament runner-up; Mrs. James Wurga, Betty Whelan Trophy tournament; and Mrs. Robert Tyler, Betty Whelan Trophy tournament runner-up.

Also Mrs. A. G. Holder and Mrs. Frank McCracken, Jean McLean memorial tournament winners; Mrs. William Pearce and Mrs. William Selden, runners-up; Mrs. Edgar Johnson, most improved golfer for 18 holes, and Mrs. Siamore Wilson, most improved golfer for nine holes.

TYLUS SCORES TWICE
In Nassau County, W. T. Touchdowns by Kevin Tylus added Nassau County in a 18-13 win over the University Store, as the winners remained the only unbeaten team in the Midway Football League after Sunday's games.

James Peterson got the other score, while Joe McGulgan and Dave Obrien tallied for the University Store. Conover's Tony Batley also carried the ball for Conover and intercepted a pass.

George Reynolds, Chris Fraker, Joe Zawadzky, Mark Van Heoven and Tony Motters bolstered Conover's defense, and Dan Blum, Tony LaPina, Ley Lewis, Tom Rayner and Pete Follmy played superbly on defense for the U-Store.

In the first game Princeton Fuel Oil crushed Matthews Construction Co., 34-7, gaining 108 yards on the ground and 12 through the air. Dave Black, Joe Galie, Greg Kline and Brad Emulian ran roughsided over the Matthews defense, while hard-charging defense led by David Jackson, Frank O'Shaughnessy, John Mooney, Glen Goehals and Tom Mason held Matthews to a one tally. Matthews' last drive of 118 yards gained rushing through the running of Mitch Schoepf, Jerry Pasanella and David Lichtenstein. They were aided by the blocking of Steve Perone, Brian Jeffries, Ted Thomas, John Perone and Rocky Cobb. Jeffries' Boccassano's many tackles and Kim Strover's two interceptions of Matthews kept the score from going any higher.

RAFFAELLI WINS RACE
On Lake Carnegie, Larry Raffaelli, who won his son Eric for proved his worth as a pre-dominant skipper Sunday as he captured both the handicap and high score trophies in the Carnegie Sailing Club's Wall Jefferson Memorial Race on the lake.

In four races sailed in fair to variable winds, Raffaelli put together a first, a second and two fourths for the win. Metcalf was second, Dexter Miller, third, followed by Art Keizer, John Reeder, John Hordick, Dantonio Graham, and Tom Lawson.

Bill Campbell of Toms River, who had a first and a fourth going into the final heat, fell to ninth place and finished second with 67.7.

The Carnegie club placed four men in the top ten finishes, with Reeder, fourth, Bill O'Donnell, sixth, Miller, seventh, and Metcalf, ninth. Twenty-five puntings sailed in the regatta, which was followed by a lunch at the Shriner's Club and the Princeton Penn football game.

BOWLING TONICS
Cittelli Bowler of Week, Bob Cittelli, rolling in the A League, scored a 243 to win the TOWN TOPICS' Award for the highest single game of the week. Sara Rose (200) won the same award among the women bowlers.

In the standings, R & D Atlantic lost two points to Princeton Aviation but still leads the latter, 34 to 32. Grover Lumber and Italian-American Sportsmen Club are knotted for third with 28 apiece.

Kingston gained a tie with Dutch Neck for the lead in the T.C. County Firemen's League. They have 18 points. Mercer No. 3, Hook and Ladder "L" and K.F.D. are bunched at 10 apiece.

Mixers has stretched his lead to 22-18 over second place Hi Lo's. King Pins and Missiles each have 14.

The Business Women's League has lightened up till one can almost feel the tension. Princeton Taxi saw its six-point lead melt to one, 138, over Rocky Hill Inn. One more point could be Buell Builders and Mini Plymouth, both 32, while University Cleaners has 28. Still not out are the Claridge and Hilde-A-Way, 24.

Flying for honours were Sara Rose 200-165 (523) and Carol Liss, 182-129 (523). Dail Forsyth had 186, 0-0 and Gene-Harris, 175-160. Mickey Chilcone, 183-161, Mickey bowling 70 pins over her previous record. DeCicco, 167; Diane Fowler, 167 and Jean Buell, 167. WE SHALL VOTE FOR
ARCHIE ALEXANDER

The widening and straightening of Borough Streets, as still called for by the presently accepted Master Plan, will only aggravate our already grievous traffic problems. A completely new concept is needed.

We shall vote for Archie Alexander for Mayor, not only because he promises to oppose the Master Plan, but because he will do his best to develop and implement an efficient modern plan for the diversion of all through-traffic from the Borough and subordination of the automobile to the interests of the community.

LET US HAVE A NEW MASTER PLAN — ONE TO WORK FOR RATHER THAN AGAINST.

They overflew the auditorium for prize ceremony and party, according to R. Donald Barr of the Recreation Department, the parade sponsor.

The Halloween poster contest also drew an unexpected response this year, with between 400 and 500 entries sent in by the children.

TICKET FOR CORONER. Platform? Confucius. Somebody's going to run for Coroner. That classic black spot on the Mercer County ballot can be filled in next Tuesday with the name of Michael L. Tickin who is running on a Confucian platform.

Mr. Tickin lives at 212 John Street and is a graduate student in East Asian history at Princeton University. He reminds voters of Confucius' dictum that time left over from study should be devoted to public office.

"Since my own studies leave me hardly any free time, I feel that it is in an office like Coroner that I can best fulfill this precept," the candidate said this week in a pre-election statement.

The office of Mercer County Coroner is a vestigial remnant with no salary and no duties. That's why Mr. Tickin thinks he's just as well-qualified as anybody.

"Though I expect to do very little governing," he said, searching his copy of Confucius' "Analects," "I can assure everyone that whatever governing I do do, will be done with equity, integrity and benevolent concern for the welfare of the people."

YOUTH IS JAILED

On Firearm. Last night's charges. When Township Patrolmen Anthony Gaylard and David Wilbur stopped a suspicious car on Route 206 near Hillside Avenue at 3:30 Saturday morning, they discovered two 22 caliber rifles on the floor of the car.

The driver of the car, Gibson E. Delaney, 21, 68 Pine Street, was charged with three motor vehicle violations by the Township police: unlicensed driver, using fictitious plates and late inspection.

Suspecting that the rifles may have been those stolen from a rear shed at the home of Arthur M. Conger, 404 Nassau Street in September, Township police notified the Borough police. Ptl. Stanley Donald confronted the suspect and he allegedly admitted taking the rifles. Borough police have charged him with breaking and entering and larceny.

In addition to the motor vehicle violations, Township police added charges of possession of firearms and possession of stolen property. A preliminary hearing has been set for next week before Township Magistrate Glenn B. Miller Jr. Delaney was sent to Mercer County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bail.

JULIARD HEARD

To Open Series II, The Juilliard String Quartet began the 1967-68 season Series II concerts at McCarter Theatre Monday with a program of works by Haydn, Beethoven, Schöenberg and Ravel. The members of the renowned quartet are Robert Mann and Earl Carlysle, violins; Raphael Fillyer, viola; and Claude Adams, violoncello. Their program consisted of the Quartet in E♭ Major, Op. 64, No. 12, Haydn; the Quartet No. 4, Op. 31 by Arnold Schönberg; and the Quartet in F Major by Maurice Ravel.

As in past years, the Juilliard distinguished themselves by their impeccable musical, flawless ensemble technique and purity of style. Every nuance, every melodic line is meticulously brought forth with the kind of precision that audiences have come to expect when hearing these fine artists.

And yet, there is something "distinct" about their playing. It would be hard to call McCarter Theatre is not suited for chamber music recitals.

For many quartets (such as the Hungarian and Guarneri) have concentrated successfully to the large audience, but their style of playing is vastly different. They seem to play with a greater dynamic range and wider emotional expressiveness than the members of the Juilliard ensemble, but no quartet today has achieved the sense of perfection in balance, purpose and design as the third group. Under the brilliant leadership of Robert Mann, their first violinist, their style plays as one, with effortless ease and supreme confidence.

It was these characteristics that were displayed again and again in all three works on the program. Mr. Mann plays with a warm, silken tone, the amazing thing is that audience find Schöenberg art so forbidding. It received a quick reception. The fourth movement audibly does not add appreciably to the composition in this writer's opinion. Though there is little repetition in the traditional sense of the term, Schöenberg has a tendency to repeat certain textures, mannerisms and rhythmic devices. But one can say that about many great composers.

The tempo of the four movements in the main do not show perhaps enough contrast between them. Schöenberg was a Viennese, Austro-German composer. Much of the long-winded writing one associates with Wagner, Bruckner and Mahler, is still prevalent in Schöenberg's scores. But today, Mahler (and Bruckner too are "in") while Schöenberg's time has not yet arrived.

It has taken Mahler 50 years, Bruckner, a little longer. Schöenberg will have to wait, but it is this writer's honest opinion that the "Six Quartets" while a thoroughly written composition, quite inspired, extremely melodic and musically moving.

It should be performed more often, but in more intimate surroundings than that of McCarter Theatre. The work is far more than a generation old, yet few non-composers acquainted with it perhaps, a generation ago now, its time will also come.

The lovely Ravel Quartet is so well known (for contrast to the Schöenberg) to take up the reader's time (or nine far that matter) it is sufficient to say that the Juilliard Quartet rendered it a service that left nothing to be desired, (in case of course you prefer less restraint and more emotional involvement. — Arno Salfran

SCOTT HOUSE SOLD

To Bryce Thompson. The Borough has finally sold "Scott House," the charming old wallflower on River Road that nobody wanted the last time around.

At Monday's bidding, the house was sold to W. Bryce Thompson IV, Princeton real estate agent, for $42,001. The Borough "bought" meaning "we won't take a nickel less — was $42,000."

A condition of purchase is that the new owner keep the house intact and not tear it down. Mr. Thompson assured the Borough that he would honor the stipulations.

When the house was put on the block before, the upset price was $20,000. The bid was $27,000. The house is on joint ownership, Township and Princeton University (members of the Joint Committee) on the basis of money paid in over the lifetime of the bonds that were floated to buy the property.

News Of The CHURCHES

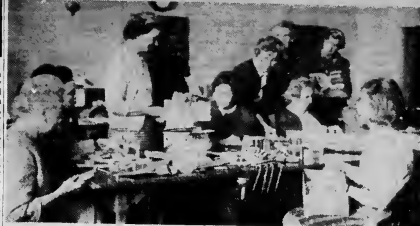

PULPIT DIALOGUE SET
By Princeton Clergy, Roman Catholic and Protestant clergy will lead a unique ecumenical service at 3:30 Sunday in Princeton University Chapel, marking the 650th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation. The highlight will be a pulpit dialogue between the Rev. John B. Sheerin, C. S. S. P., editor of the Paulist magazine, The Catholic World, and the Rev. Richard E. Koenig, Lutheran chaplain at Amherst and Smith Colleges and an associate editor of the international monthly, The Lutheran Forum.

The commemoration will differ from more than a dozen other Catholic-Protestant dialogues that are planned in the nation, in that it will be a religious service, not just a conference.

Sponsors are the Princeton Pastors' Association, the dean of the Chapel and the University chaplains in cooperation with Bishop George W. Ahr of the Catholic Diocese of Trenton. The Rev. Dr. Luther Kriesel of the Lutheran Church of Fall of the Messiah initiated the project.

In Dialogue Form. The dialogue, which will constitute the sermon, will be in the form of questions and responses. Pastor Koenig will ask Fr. Sheerin what a Lutheran would like to ask a Roman Catholic on the anniversary of the Reformation. Fr. Sheerin will reply and then counter with question to the Lutheran pastor.

Issues that led Martin Luther to post his 95 Theses in the door of the castle church in Wittenberg in 1517—the authority of the Roman Catholic Church, the position of the Pope and the doctrine of justification by faith—will be among the topics analyzed in modern context, according to Fr. Sheerin.

Other clergymen who will be at the altar include Dean Ernest Gordon, the Rev. John J. Connelly, director of the Aquinas Institute and chaplain to Catholic students at Princeton, and Pastor Kriesel, who will lead the liturgy.

The service will open with a procession of Catholic and Protestant clergymen and laymen. Among the hymns will be Luther's "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God." There will be Bible lessons and a confession of sin; the Apostles' Creed and the Lord's Prayer will be recited by the interfaith congregation.

Three Chorus to Sing. Three choirs will be heard: the 100-voice choir of St. Joseph's College at Kingston, directed by the Rev. Ralph Gleis; the 70-

In addition to being editor of the oldest Catholic magazine in the country, Fr. Sheerin is a prolific contributor to Catholic literature and is the author of a syndicated column, "Sam and Substance," published in more than 20 Catholic newspapers in the U. S.

Pastor Koenig is a member of the board of directors of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. PACK CHRISTMAS GIFTS
For Vietnam Marines, Episcopal Churchwomen will meet again this Monday afternoon at Trinity Church to wrap and pack Christmas gifts for 100,000 U.S. Marines stationed in the 1 Corps area immediately below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam. All interested women are invited to take part. A final session will be held on Monday, November 11.

The project was inspired by letters from Mrs. Charles Caldwell of 20 College Road, presently serving in the USO at China Beach near Danang. "Anything you send will be wonderful, Christmas for every man in 1 Corps means about 100,000 big, fat, gay plastic bags filled with seven or eight smaller packages. On every box will be a tag saying 'Merry Christmas from the people at home through the USO'."

According to Mrs. William K. Seiden, "This means we'll have more than 600,000 small gifts to wrap individually." Donations of small articles and funds to cover purchases and postage are being solicited. Mrs. Sydney Stevens is project chairman.

Items suggested by Mrs. Caldwell include flash lights, transistor radios, tape records, small tapes to send home, a set repellent, sun glasses, a hair paint brushes (to clean weapons), pocket knives, scissors, food "in any and all forms," candy, nuts, lighters, "lints, fluid, small puzzles," the "tricky candy," same sets, playing cards, harmonicas, small picture frames and paperback books.

UNITARIANS OPPOSED

To Vietnam War. Fifty-five members of the Unitarian Church of Princeton have signed a four-point statement against the Vietnam war.

"We believe that the United States government's military policy and actions in Vietnam are illegal and immoral."

"Our country is violating the Geneva Agreements of 1954."

"Our intervention in Vietnam's internal affairs has resulted in massive destruction of life and property."

"We call upon the United States government to stop all bombing in Vietnam preliminary to negotiations and the withdrawal of United States armed forces."

According to the Rev. Howard Middleton, associate pastor and convenor of the group, the signed statement has been sent to President Johnson, New Jersey congressmen and senators and to the Unitarian Register-Leader.

The group, formed a few weeks ago as the Ad Hoc Committee, is now formally titled "Princeton Unitarians Opposed to the War in Vietnam." Mr. Middleton states, "Education is the prime purpose of the group. We hope to encourage the church to hold a public forum where both views would be presented by experts."

Members also maintain a literature table at the church and are compiling a list of action groups that interested individuals might join.

TO DISCUSS ABORTION

From Moral Aspect. The Rev. John J. Connelly of the Aquinas Foundation at Princeton and the Rev. Dr. Charles C. West, professor of Christian ethics at Princeton Seminary, will discuss the moral aspect of abortion at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, November 8, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The abortion lecture continued on Next Page.

series is sponsored by the Princeton YWCA.
Mrs. E. Harris Harrison, as secretary of Presbyterian, will be moderator. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Dr. West, a member of the Seminary faculty since 1961, was associate director of the Ecumenical Institute of the World Council of Churches at Chateau de Bossey near Geneva, Switzerland, for five years. He is chairman of the U.S. Committee for the Christian Peace Conference.

Dr. Connolly was assigned director of the Acquaintance Foundation last April, transferring from Dr. Lady of God Counsel Church, Morristown, a native of Philadelphia, he studied at Notre Dame University and St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, before ordination in 1953 by Bishop George Ahr of Trenton.

DR. DAVIES TO SPEAK
At ECW luncheon, Professor Horton Davies of the Princeton University will speak at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Episcopal Church. An authority on the history of Christianity, his topic will be "Episcopacy, Moore and Sutherland: Modern English Religious Art."

A native of South Wales, Dr. Davies has devoted himself primarily to the teaching ministry in the conviction that "the Church must be able to defend its doctrines in terms that are intelligible and relevant to the needs of the modern world."

He is a graduate of the University of Edinburgh, with a D. Div. from Oxford and a D. D. from the University of South Africa. From 1942 to 1945 he was minister of Wallington Congregational Church in South London, an area known as "Bomb Alley" for the pounding it received from German rockets.

A former Traveling Fellow of the Carnegie Corporation, he held a Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Fellowship which has enabled him to do further work on a five volume project, "Theology and Worship in England," (published by the Princeton University Press), which traces the history of Protestant and Catholic theology, worship and religious art from the Reformation to the present.

The lecture is the second on the ECW theme for this year, "The Church and the Creative Arts."

STONE LECTURES SET
At Princeton Seminary, "Join the Theologians!" is the title of the 14 Stone Lectures to be given next week by Paul Miner of Yale Divinity School at Princeton Seminary. The series will be held in Miller Chapel.

Professor Miner is the author of 10 books dealing with New Testament Christology, chairman of the faith and order commission of the World Council of Churches and immediate past president of the American Theological Society.

During the four day Stone Lectures, Dr. Miner will deal with the topic in five separate lectures: Monday, 7:45 p.m., "Right to Seven Searches"; Tuesday, 7:45 p.m., "God's Purpose as Verified by Christ"; Wednesday, 1:45 p.m., "Authority to Prophecy"; 7:45 p.m., "Come Out of Her My People"; and Thursday, 7:45 p.m., "I am Coming Soon."
Dr. Miner is Winkley Professor of Biblical Theology at Yale. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Garrett Theological Seminary in 1916, at the same time earning his master of arts degree from Northwestern University. He received his Ph.D. from Yale in 1922.

The GREATEST... BEST... FASTEST... How many times have you seen and heard these words in ads selling service... we admit, we've used them ourselves. But we have found that you can't sell a service with superlatives! We simply say that we think our TV Repair Service is merely better than adequate... it's only GOOD.

We have trained, competent technicians with years of experience in their profession to back that statement.

And most of all, we have many satisfied customers... which is, after all, our ultimate goal!

Do us a service... call 921-8500 today so that we may serve you!

DO IT YOURSELF!

.. IT'S EASY TO WOOD PANEL ANY ROOM WITH

PRE-FINISHED PLANKWELD

Ready-to-Install WELDWOOD PLYWOOD

1 Start paneling in corner.
Nail down size of first panel at corner end.

2 Insert metal clips in the edge edge of panel. Nail clips to wall or stud.

Here is a beautiful wood paneling you can install yourself. Even if you aren't handy, you can panel a whole room in a few hours. And do a fine job, too.

Plankweld is Weldwood Plywood paneling. Faces are already finished — no painting or staining is needed.
Panel edges are grooved to fit into each other; fastening is done with clips so no nails are needed.

You can put Plankweld right over old walls—no furring or framing is needed. That's why Plankweld is such a wonderful material for remodeling. It's time for new houses too. The panels are fastened directly to the studs.

By doing the job yourself you can panel any room you want to,
and the whole cost will be the most price per foot of Plankweld alone.

And—here's something you'll be glad to know—Plankweld is guaranteed for the life of your house.
No more repairs!

Come in to see Plankweld. We have it in fine hardwoods. See how easy it is—and how inexpensive—to wood panel any room in your house.

Plankweld is 1/2" thick, is easy-to-handle panels 16 1/2" wide by 8 feet long.
